Antal International and JEC announce Partnership to propel Global Composites Industry

Antal International, represented by its Paris office (DS Talent) specialized in composites recruitment, is thrilled to announce a partnership with JEC, one of the world's foremost associations in composites industry.

JEC has been promoting the global composites industry for more than 60 years with influential publications and events, while Antal Paris office, with rich composites expertise, provides recruitment services to this niche market with global reach to connect top talents.

The synergy between Antal International Paris office (DS Talent), and JEC is a seamless match. This partnership fortifies Antal International and JEC, synergizing their strengths as key players in their respective areas of expertise.

Through this collaboration, both parties aim to benefit the composites industry community by offering a direct gateway for talent acquisition.

Arnaud SPORTOUCH and Jane DENG at Antal International, senior recruiters and Managing partners, expressed their enthusiasm, stating: “We are immensely excited about this partnership, as it opens up incredible opportunities and connects us with entrepreneurs, clients and candidates who share our skills and ambitions. With a decade of experience in serving composites clients, we are determined to extend our international footprint. We eagerly anticipate our participation in the upcoming JEC composites Show in Paris on Mar 5-7, 2024, where Jane and I will engage with existing and prospective clients and candidates. For more insights into our recruitment services, feel free to connect with us on LinkedIn or reach out via email at asportouch@antal.com.”
