We are the specialists in international recruitment

We are the specialists in international recruitment. Operating in a wide range of specialized sectors, we recruit talents who will add tangible value to your business, and who will have a positive and measurable impact on the growth, processes, and culture of it, from their first day within your organization.

Founded in 1993, Antal has quickly expanded across the world, with a significant presence in all key talent markets, including strategic markets experiencing significant development such as China, India, and CIS countries, allowing us to become a global recruitment specialist in each of our specialized sectors.

We are convinced that our experience, our industry expertise, and our market knowledge strongly differentiate us and make us unique in the field of consulting and recruitment.

Add to that our global and local presence and our collaborative methodology by working beyond international borders within the Antal network, to ensure you have consultants who are local and culturally adapted, working for you.

A Global Recruitment Solution Applied Locally

A Global Recruitment Solution Applied Locally

We operate globally, offering solutions at the local level. Being present in key countries, our global and local networks, as well as our skills, allow us to offer you the best candidates, regardless of geographical location.

To date, we have made nearly 100,000 placements in more than 72 countries, supporting our clients in their own international expansion, with specialized expertise in emerging markets such as China, India, and CIS. With more than 130 offices spread across Europe, Africa, the Middle East, America, and the Asia-Pacific, we offer 24/7 international service.

Our team of over 1,200 specialized consultants is native to their place of residence, allowing us to converse with local candidates in their native language. We understand local cultures and know the markets in-depth, allowing us to provide high-level support to candidates and ensure the success of their long-term placements.
